

VENDOR MANAGED INVENTORY

History

We know that our customers want to focus on the maximization of their distribution activities. Pallet spaces have value inside facilities and cash flow is the concern of every healthy company.

“Just In Time” inventory is often the solution to weather the ups and downs of inventory “turns”. Throughout the years, Western Edge has developed programs to manage inventory for the benefit of our customers and helps them reach their goals of efficiency.

Approach

Products that may be private label, controlled brand, or Western Edge brand can be stored in a cold storage location optimized to an individual DC or region of DC locations. Western Edge brings this experience and capability to your Distribution Center. You get pricing based on your usages and cold storage needs, and none of the hassle of containers going on government hold, being stuck with bad product - the list of benefits goes on.

Capabilities & Footprint

Western Edge Seafood supplies numerous restaurant groups and food service distribution companies throughout the U.S., which we need to maintain specific inventory levels for. As we bring in quantities of these inventories, it gives us the ability to bring in less than load quantities of other specifications in the same container to support smaller programs at volume priced levels.

Our distribution footprint encompasses the entire continental U.S., as we store product in cold storages from coast to coast and work directly with retail and foodservice distributors nationwide.
